Trinity Transport, Inc. Launches New Renewable Energy Division

Seaford, DE (November 26, 2007) – Trinity Transport, Inc. announces the creation of Renewable Energy – a new division focused on serving the transportation needs of the rapidly expanding renewable energy sector of the US economy. This new division will be located within Trinity’s Kansas City, MO Regional Service Center. Operations will be under the management of Frank Lies, Director Western Regional Service Centers.

“We are very excited to enhance our well-established 3PL services which include managing truckload, less than load (LTL), expedited, and international freight, with the addition of the new array of services and solutions offered by Trinity Transport, Inc.” said Director Frank Lies. With the expansion into bulk freight, Trinity will provide transportation solutions for various companies including ethanol plants, bio-diesel plants, blending terminals, and gasoline stations.

Trinity Transport, Inc. is an award-winning third-party logistics provider based in Seaford, Delaware with approximately 50 offices across the United States and Canada. The transportation intermediary arranges freight delivery, provides logistics and transport technology for retailers, manufacturers and distributors across the United States, Canada, and Mexico. In 2006, Trinity handled 160,000 loads of truckload and less-than-truckload freight. The company recently received top honors in the medium sized company category as 2007’s Best in the Business, by The News Journal.
